A seagull with a yellow beak and grey feathers is perched on a weathered wooden post that is partially submerged in the ocean. The water is a mix of blue and green, with some brown seaweed visible near the shore. In the background, the horizon line separates the water from a clear blue sky with a few wispy clouds. A second, taller white post is visible further out in the water to the right. A white speech bubble with a tail pointing towards the seagull is positioned in the upper right quadrant of the image.
